Privacy & Confidentiality Notice

Effective October 17, 2026

Information we receive

When you contact BERLIX, we receive the information you provide, such as your name, company, email address, phone number, industry, and message. Limited technical data may also be processed to operate and protect our website.

How we use information

We use inquiries to respond to you, consider potential advisory relationships, maintain appropriate business records, and protect our services.

Optional email updates

If you choose to subscribe, we may send market insights, business acquisition opportunities, and occasional BERLIX updates. Subscribing is optional and does not affect your inquiry. You may unsubscribe at any time using the instructions in our emails or by contacting us.

Privacy and security

We do not sell contact information submitted through our website. Service providers may assist with our communications and operations, and information may be disclosed where required by law. We take reasonable measures to protect information, but website inquiries and ordinary email are not appropriate for sensitive records.

Confidentiality and professional relationships

Please do not submit confidential financial statements, patient records, or other sensitive documents through this form. We will arrange an appropriate secure exchange when needed. An inquiry does not establish an NDA, advisory relationship, or engagement. Website information is general and is not legal, tax, or investment advice.

Retention and your choices

We retain relevant correspondence as reasonably needed for business and legal purposes. For questions, correction or deletion requests where applicable, or to change your email preferences, contact us directly.
